Visit InStyle Gallery's electrical selection studio and be spoiled for choice

We understand it can be overwhelming when building a new home, which is why we encourage you (or your clients) to come into our unrestricted creative space and let your imagination take the reins for electrical design and inspiration.

The InStyle process

Your consultation and design

InStyle Gallery's new showroom studio is home to our in-house Electrical Consultation Service that allows our expert design and sales team to collaborate on a face-to-face basis with clients. Here, clients are given the opportunity to see, touch and feel our prodigious range of electrical products, with direct access to a world of options that include (but are not limited to) alternative colour schemes, state-of-the-art lighting/power products, home security and automation solutions.

Our consultation service can vary between one to three hours, but ultimately is governed by the size and complexity of the dwelling concerned.

Working through the building plans together, we'll introduce our full-colour, graphic artistry capabilities and help you or your clients truly see the full suite of electrical technology, and how it's going to be located within your home.

We personalise your plans and options with CAD software

Our qualified design team will innovate your electrical package by developing a distinctive design, at the most cost-effective price, by the conclusion of the consultation. Together we'll help create an environment that's welcoming AND functional, and prompt you or your clients to think ahead about seamlessly integrating the benefits of task and decorative lighting into your architectural drawings.

With the aid of our specific design modelling program, we will instantly augment the electrical plans in real-time, and simultaneously establish a clear variation price of the costs incurred. With no veiled costs, you or your clients will feel involved and in-control when creating your dream home's electrical system and choosing appropriate fixtures and fittings.

We'll also provide clarity when it comes to electrical necessities and planning for future provisions, to eliminate the potential of unwarranted and excessive costs when upgrading homes as the years roll forward.

With the growing integration of technology in everyone's lives, we can design home automation, access control, security and data to help make everyday tasks more seamless, energy-efficient and uniquely stylish.

Whether you're a builder, architect or the homeowner, you'll experience the customised opportunity to maximise your design and pre-planning more effectively with us. We'll then proceed to modify your pre-construction layout and produce a new, interactive plan and quote right before your eyes.

Our InStyle process provides you with quality working drawings, an instant quotation and an installation schedule. It's that simple!

In only one session, our clients will have a fully costed and conclusively detailed lighting and electrical plan. It's a one stop process, created in consultation with our InStyle experts.

Building plans will be adjusted and regenerated on-the-spot, for you to work from, and you can leisurely explore our showroom samples for total peace of mind.

You, or your client, can have complete confidence that your wishes can come true, and that your Electrical selections are the perfect fit for installation in all your new homes or projects.

Create the right mood by selecting from our endless array of choices and our revered architectural flare for design.

InStyle offers an electrical selection studio, consultancy and design service that is second-to-none!

You'll have had the benefit of all the support and closure you need by having already physically tested and familiarised yourselves with a diverse variety of tangible products in our showroom before the customised electrical package is professionally installed.

When it's time to activate your tailored design plans onsite, we'll have all of the required lighting, switches, the latest in technology, and our team of qualified electrical technicians ready-to-go, so that your build can proceed on-time, on-budget and with the assurance that we will keep to your schedule.

Our dedicated and efficient electrical design consultants welcome the prospect of discussing your upcoming projects. We're here to remove some of the stress involved in the building process, so that you remember us at InStyle for all the right reasons.

Our electrical design services are second-to-none which is why we are one of the leading electrical companies in Melbourne.
